Submission in support

1. Further to the FWC directions of 4 February 2019, Jobs Australia Ltd will not be filing independent written submissions in reply regarding substantive issues for the Social, Community, Home Care and Disability Services Industry Award 2010 (“the SCHADS Award”).
2. Instead, Jobs Australia Ltd confirms its support for the submissions in reply to be made by the National Disability Services (NDS) in relation to this matter. The submissions made by NDS are consistent with the views of JA regarding its own members in the Disability Sector as well its broader membership to the extent that submission is relevant.
3. Jobs Australia supports and represents the interests of not-for-profit employment and related services organisations throughout the entirety of Australia. This includes not-for-profit organisations that help unemployed Australians prepare for and find employment. Jobs Australia members also work across all types of community services including:
  - community centres and neighbourhood houses,
  - community legal centres,
  - disability centres,
  - mental health support services,
  - social advocacy,
  - adult and community education; and
  - community-based child care.
4. Jobs Australia Ltd seeks to reserve its rights to make further submissions regarding the 4 yearly review in line with any directions issued by the FWC for the remainder of the process.
